Message From Editors

DONALD BENEDETTI.
Editor-in-Chief

In the Nathanite of 1959, we have endeavored to record for posterity the trials and triumphs of our four wonderful years at Drury. As ambitious freshmen, promising sophomores, rising juniors, and finally as omnipotent seniors we have matured under the firm but friendly guidance of our dedicated teachers. As the years pass on we expect you will often turn to this chronicle and recall a special moment in your high school days.

ADMINISTRATION

Message from Mr. Robert Taylor,
Superintendent of Schools.

MR. ROBERT N. TAYLOR.

Keeping Up With The Times

An advancing technology, unexpected and rapid changes on the world political scene, and the human drive to raise our standard of living in the United States are three most vigorous challenges to high school students who hope to enjoy a full and happy life.

Continue to learn whatever your choice of a career may be. To cease learning at eighteen years of age would be sheer folly and a sign of the crumbling of your moral fibre. There are today unlimited opportunities. If you would keep up with the times, you must be a vigorous part of this ever-growing and learning people, the citizens of the United States.

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT N. TAYLOR.

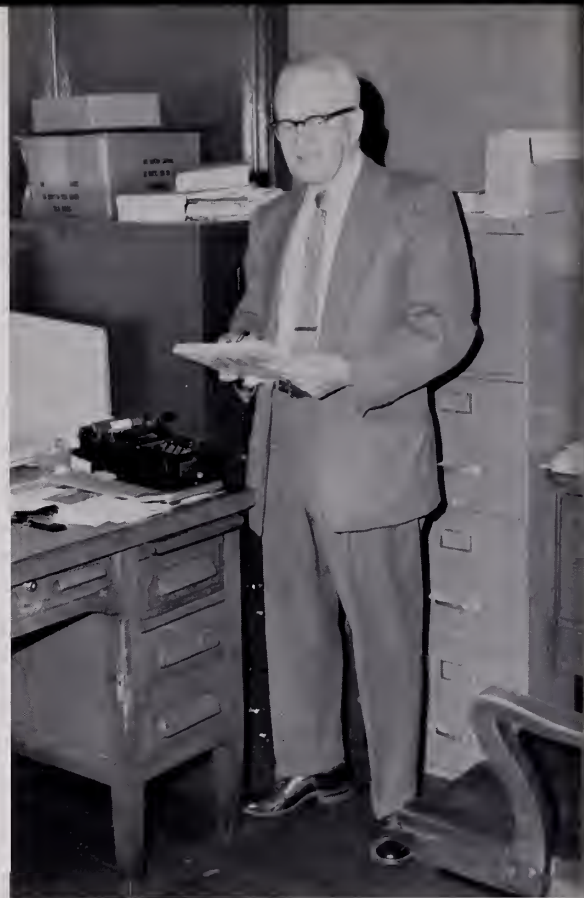

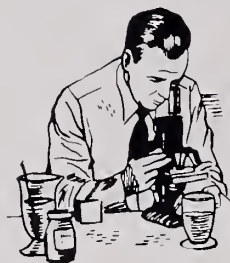

A black and white photograph of a man in a suit and glasses standing in an office. He is holding a small object in his hands. He is positioned next to a desk cluttered with papers and a chair.

The insatiable mind of man has brought about another new chapter in the history of civilization. Missiles which heretofore existed on paper are now encircling the earth and at the same time emitting valuable information.

The last several decades have shown that the attitude of people the world over has changed. It is the largest single factor which has brought about the use of scientific knowledge and progress for military implication rather than for man's betterment alone. The thought for you in this message is that you use the knowledge, the ideals, the habits imparted to you during your Drury days as intended. They were intended for you to continue your betterment, but they were also intended for you to have the proper attitude toward your fellowmen, your locality, your state, your country and the world. Being only concerned for one's welfare is the basic reason for the changed attitude throughout the world. There must be another concern, concern for the rights of others, if the desired balance is to be had. It must start with each of you as individuals and spread far and wide. It is only in this way that civilization can look forward with any feeling of security. As you take your place in the world, think seriously of this aspect, then do something about it.

Best wishes to each and every member of the Class of 1959.

Message from Mr. Guy Cameron,
Vice-Principal of Drury High School.

MR. GUY CAMERON.

The price of excellence in athletics is hard work, and a sacrifice of many pleasures which could be harmful to speed and endurance.

The price of excellence in science and mathematics is hard work, and the sacrifice of many pleasures which could be wasteful of time and energy.

But in these complex and perilous times, as much as we need scientists, the need for wisdom is still greater. And many think wisdom is gained by a broad knowledge of all the basic subjects.

May you attain excellence in your subject matter, and gain the wisdom necessary to help preserve and advance our way of life.

Sincerely yours,
GUY CAMERON.

Message from Miss Katherine Cody,
Director of Guidance.

You are entering a world of wondrous things. So short a time it has been since man hung his first exhibit in the heavens! Today, 'aiming at the moon' is no mere figure of speech. It is into this same space that you are about to launch your own personal satellite. How well the count-down goes, how successfully you go into orbit depends largely upon what you have been doing these last four years as you trod the halls of Drury. Let us trust the years have been good ones — good for you, good to you. May you carry away with you a bit of philosophy, too—

Remember your American heritage beyond the history classroom. Save it. Cherish it. Enrich it.

Seize your opportunities, your challenges. Never sit back and believe your learning has ended nor your work is done.

Know and practice the values for which the truly educated man continually strives — the moral and spiritual values which bind him to his Maker with courage, vision and hope.

Sincerely yours,
KATHERINE F. CODY

MISS KATHERINE CODY.

Message from Mr. Charles McCann,
Director of Trade School.

As you travel along the pathways of Life, glance back occasionally, remembering that at the end of the road it doesn't really matter whether you have been a merchant or mechanic; doctor or preacher; lawyer or teacher. All that counts ultimately is the answer to one question. Have I been a man in its highest meaning?

A mind able and willing to make wise decisions, hands skilled in the ability needed to develop worthy ideas into concrete accomplishment, and a heart sensitive to the universal need for understanding and faith, will help you make your personal contribution toward a better world for all mankind.

I congratulate you on your achievement and add a prayer that the Good Lord will bless you with good health, happiness and prosperity in the years ahead.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES H. McCANN.

MR. CHARLES McCANN.

Author of Class Ode

CLASS ODE (Tune of Old Black Joe)

Gone are the days that we spent at Drury High,
Gone are the friends we will bid a fond goodbye,
Gone from this school that has been four years our home,
We'll think of Drury High School where'er we roam.

(Chorus)

We're leaving, we're leaving,
But we'll long remember you.
We'll miss you, dear old Drury High School, proud and true.
Memories of friends that we made within these halls,
Memories of days we will long with love recall,
Though now we bid a solemn, sad adieu,
Dear Mother Drury, long our thoughts will be with you.

MARIANN COUGHLIN

Class Will

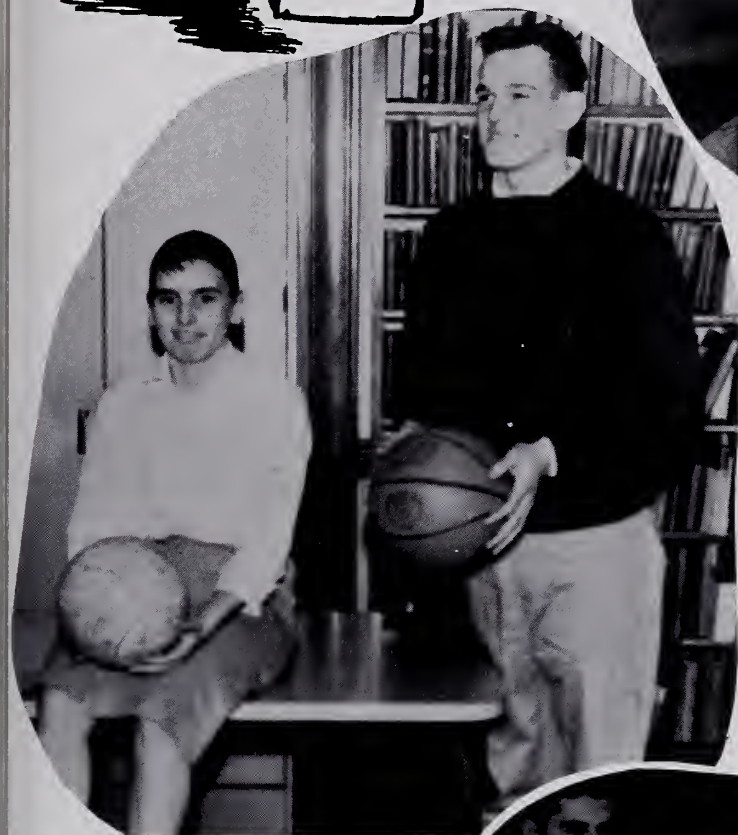

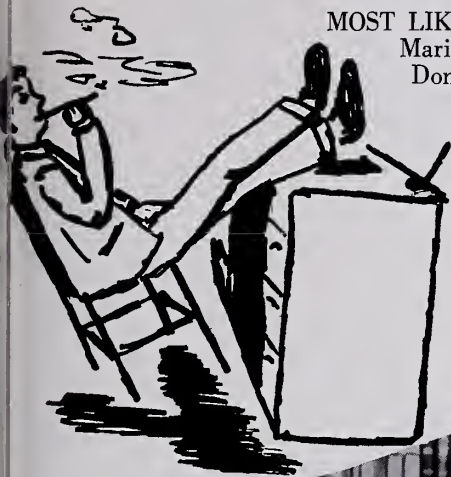

We, the class of '59, dispensing with silly legal terminology, wish to make this our last will and testament, bequeathing to:

Mr. Taylor: A reserve supply of teachers.
Mr. Drotter: Quiet Pep Rallies.
Mr. Cameron: A class that will "come on now" at exam time.
Miss Grosso: A 2nd period class that's awake.
Mr. Sinclitico: An organ that plays only "Tangerine."
Mr. Howard: A year's supply of flash bulbs.
Mr. Trudeau: Pupils who return French readers on time.
Mr. Noel: Miniature skis to fit his V.W.
Miss Guilbault: Students who never need the locker-room key.
Miss Cody: Colleges for all of Drury's students.
Mr. DelNegro: A "starting five" that use his plays.
Mr. Sayles: A substitute for George's car.
Miss Loehr: A sound-proof typing room.
Mr. Sondrini: An exchange trip without problems.
Mr. Slabinski: An all-boy filing class.
Mr. Steuer: A traffic light for Drury Lane.
Mr. Nichols: An armed guard to get the cafeteria money upstairs.
Mr. McCann: A Regional Trade School.
Mr. Rosse: A class of angels.
Mr. Cardillo: A reducing machine.
Dr. Potter: A baton with a non-detachable end.
Mrs. Brawn: Someone who can read 300 words per minute.
Mrs. Accetta: A lie detector machine.
Mrs. Waterhouse: A crying towel for the Trade School boys.
Mr. Johnson: A ski club that is always on time.
Mrs. Lilly: An all "A" freshman algebra class.
Miss Lunney: A lifetime supply of Frank Sinatra records.
Mrs. de Lisser: A son to play on the Williams football team.
Mr. Gravel: A play cast that will not cause ulcers.
Mr. Kelly: Students that can master his memory passages.
Mr. Lamarre: Another play cast like that of the class of '59.
Mr. Starratt: A large enough room to keep all his classes after school.
Mrs. Perrotta: A Drama Club that can really act.
Mrs. Fresia: A Trig class that understands Trig.
Mrs. Howe: Students who can remember to return books on time.
Miss Ringdahl: A year's supply of "little quizzes."
Mrs. Whitcomb: Our best wishes.
Mr. Hall: Best of luck for success and happiness at Drury.
Mr. Whitcomb: A new joke book.
Mr. Tarnuzzer: An Ivy League girl.
Mr. Boisvert: A wig to keep his scalp warm.
Mr. Clark: A car with a combination lock.
Mrs. Stenson: A non-gripping history class.
Miss Stewart: Hard-working Student Council members.
Mr. Vadnais: Mr. Boisvert's curls.
Mr. Dean: A co-operative Hi-Y Club.
Mrs. Sweeney: A trip to Bermuda without thirty students.
Miss Temple: A pass to attend all the plays on Broadway.
Miss Murray: An art course with Norman Rockwell.
Mr. Murray: A golden rule.
Miss Dolber: Some new cheers.
Mrs. Rizzo: A sincere "howdy" in returning to your Alma Mater.

RELIABLE ELECTRICAL AND ELECTRONIC COMPONENTS

Sprague manufactures a diversified line of paper, electrolytic, mica, ceramic, and plastic film capacitors for use in the electronic, electrical, and automotive industries. Sprague also manufactures transistors, printed circuits, radar pulse-forming networks, radio interference suppression filters, wirewound precision resistors, power-type wirewound resistors, pulse transformers, magnetic shift registers, and other computer components. It is the only producer of ceramic-coated high temperature magnet wire, which has wide military applications.

Sprague maintains one of the largest and most complete Research and Development laboratories in the electronic components field.

Some 325 people are employed in the development of new components, dielectric materials, and related apparatus.
